Hot Water Music

i never wondered i never bothered i never cared what i wanted to be about i have more truth than lies to me (always wonder how to walk away) show me and help me fight it i can't see to break this the bottle it rests if my hand who's gonna learn to break this who'll start the riots who's gonna break it down i never wondered i never bothered i take the day i'm severed and build what can be built on it i have more truth than lies to me (always wondered how we fell this way) this makes me whole this makes me whole (charge the body)
