Always Be There

Suzy K

There's a million miles between us, well that's what you see
There's still someone out there listening who won't walk away
Nobody wants to live alone, nobody wants to cry
You were the one who turned away, no chance to say goodbye
Only your words can break my heart, your love can set me free
I am the one who waits for you, you are the world to me

Like the sun that rises every morning
I will always be there, I will always with you
While the wheels of time keep on turning
I will always with you, I will always be there for you

Spare me a doubt before you, near's not too deep
Neet to know that I love you, my love never sleeps
How can you turn your heart away, how can you change your mind
I was the one who held you here, here from the edge of time
Calling to you in tender voice, I'm all you ever need
Right here before you there's a choice, I'll love you eternally

Like the sun that rises every morning (every morning)
I will always be there, I will always with you
While the wheels of time keep on turning (keep on turning)
I will always with you, I will always be there
Like the sun that rises every morning (every morning)
I will always be there, I will always with you
While the wheels of time keep on turning (keep on turning)
I will always with you, I will always be there for you

Give me a chance to set you free
Give me a chance to set you free (for you)
Give me a chance to set you free
Give me a chance to set you free (for you)
Give me a chance to set you free
Give me a chance to set you free (for you)
Give me a chance to set you free
Yeah, yeah

Like the sun that rises every morning (every morning)
I will always be there, I will always with you
While the wheels of time keep on turning (keep on turning)

I will always with you, I will always be there
Like the sun that rises every morning (every morning)
I will always be there, I will always with you
While the wheels of time keep on turning (keep on turning)
I will always with you, I will always be there for you

Sun that rises every morning (for you)
Wheels of time keep on turning (for you)
