Masquerade

Nina Nesbitt

There's a stranger in my bed
Lighting up a cigarette
Looking at me like he's lostThere's a letter by his side
Burning with the reasons why
Our mask has finally droppedCos now he looks at me
And it's like I don't even know him
And when he touches me
I've forgotten how to hold himHow can you call it love if you never show your face?
Did we fall in love in the middle of, the middle of a masquerade?
The middle of a masquerade?Now there's a foreign taste on his tongue
I'm trying to translate what we've become
But I can't make sense of him when we're togetherAnd maybe I got caught up in dreams
And it wasn't quite what it seemed
But you can't hide behind the truth foreverCos now he talks to me
And it's like I don't ever know him
And when he touches me
I've forgotten how to hold himHow can you call it love if you never show your face
Did we fall in love in the middle of, the middle of a masquerade?
Now the one I fell for is gone without a trace
Did we fall in love in the middle of, the middle of a masquerade?
The middle of a masquerade?Tell me did we fall in love?By the bedside (I don't even know who you are)
On the train ride (I don't even know who you are)
With his shoes tied (I don't even know who you are)
In your brown eyes (I don't even know who you are)
When you touch me (I don't even know who you are)
In your blue jeans (I don't even know who you are)
Say you love me (I don't even know who you are)
But you don't know me (I don't even know who you are)
Say you love me (I don't even know who you are)
You say you love me in the middle of a masquerade
