Move On

Fatty Koo

This is it, you know I had enough
I'm tired of you pushin' luck
It's all the stupid things that you do
That makes me so fed up with you
Here you go talk, talk, talking again
Need to cut the act out 'cause it's just pretend
What you say is not fair
And if you know me better, then you'll realize that I don't care
But when you don't think
You do [Incomprehensible] things
I'm just giving you fair warning
About the hurt and pain
I'm fine without caring
Don't try to scare me
Your words don't mean shit to me
So I wont let it get to me, no
But who will be your friend that day when you fall?
And when you need someone to talk to, who can you call?
No, I don't need nobody else but me and myself
Don't mean to seem selfish but I can't help it
What it all boils down to
Through all the hate, she still loves you
Wait a minute, the bottom line
It doesn't matter who's wrong or right
By the end of the damn day
It's not about what you had to say
She's your sister, why can't you make up
Let the past be gone, so you can move on
Stop, listen up
No, I ain't tryin' to hear it now
So why am I wastin' time if you being childish?
We're just two women [Incomprehensible], so why are you so upset?
You're not a woman yet
Silly, how can I forget?
So what's the deal with you and your main friend?

You wanna know?
When are you going to break it off with him?
It's over

Whatever
Go mind your own
I think it's best that I leave you alone
What it all boils down to
Through all the hate, she still loves you
Wait a minute, the bottom line
It doesn't matter who's wrong or right
By the end of the damn day
It's not about what you had to say
She's your sister, why can't you make up
Let the past be gone, so you can move on
Can't stand the things you say
Choices that you make, why do?
Why do you keep hating on me?
Girl, you're so clueless, you're foolish, you don't understand
Oh, you could never be me
When will you understand? I can't change who I am
You're too damn stubborn to receive hate
So what?
That's your problem
Oh well
Can I help you?
Please
What it all boils down to
Through all the hate, she still loves you
Wait a minute, the bottom line
It doesn't matter who's wrong or right
By the end of the damn day
It's not about what you had to say
She's your sister, why can't you make up
Let the past be gone, so you can move on

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/