

New World

Saigon Kick

Time people might say
Isn't it grand and sometimes unfair?Climb as high as you can Talk to the stars and kiss them for meIs this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone awayLife isn't it vague?
Haziness, thoughts of one's reason to liveFly so far away
Over the clouds and wait for me thereIs this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone away, so far awayAs I watched the sun touch down
To the last point of a dark, pale, violent night
Endless thoughts flowed through my mind
Like faint rainbows caressing the skies
We are the new world love clanCrimes based on position
Not of a constant just a transitionLove is what they say
Binding the last safe thing but steals it awayIs this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone awayIs this your world? So far away
All that you know, all gone awayIs this your world?
