The Falling

PJ Harvey

How to walk and where to run
How to walk and where to run
I see you kissing other peoples arms
I see you kissing in cheap barsHow to walk and where to run
How to walk and where to run
I see you kissing oblivious
Love ain't only your painI'm walking in oblivion
Walking in oblivion
I walk with a child's face
Remembering our daysWalking in oblivion
Walking in oblivion
It's gotta give, it's gotta change
Today is the dayTo all the men whom I've loved
To all the men whom I've loved
Something to free your angry hearts
I'm opening up my armsTo all the men whom I've loved
To all the men whom I've loved
Speak of the fear inside
It's time to change, there still is timeDo you remember walking?
Do you remember watching?
Our faces in the falling hearts of childrenTo all the men whom I've loved
To all the men whom I've loved
I dedicate my song saying
"Today is the day, today is the day"So we fall and we fall again
And I have come to tell you today
That I loved you there's still time to save
The falling hearts of our childrenThrough hating and loving Through lucking and nothing
Through a manner of sorrows
That I have spokenI open up my tender heart
I open up my tender heart
To all the men whom I've loved
All of those who I adoredBut I remember something
I remember walking
When my heart was frozen
With that feelingIt's gotta give, it's gotta change
It's gotta give, it's gotta change
Turning round and round saying
Today is the day, today is the daySo we fall and we fall again

And I have gone to tell you today
That I loved you there's still time to save
The falling hearts of our childrenFalling, yeah
Falling, yeah
Falling, yeah
Falling, yeah
Falling, yeah

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/