The Unspeakable Scene

Birds of Tokyo

Just when you think that you're warm
You're getting colder
Just when you think that you're fine
Soon the unspeakable scene will unfoldWould you want to do it all again
If you could have just one chance to change
Every little thing that could have been
As beautiful and so real? You'll never knowYou're bent out of shape, flat out of luck
You try to bury this load, dig, brother, dig
A little deeper, strike a nerve
And leave a scar so you won't forgetJust when you think that you're warm
You're getting colder
Just when you think that you're fine
Soon the unspeakable scene will unfoldHey, speak up
Oh, let me hear what you harbor, please don't lie
I will be fair to your soulless, pale, dead eyes
Wait, what did you say? Did you just call for help?Just when you think that you've won
You'll soon be the loser
How did you think this would end up?
Stupid and foolishJust when you think that you're okay
You start hearing voices
Just when you think that you're fine
Soon the unspeakable scene will unfold
