

Used to Be

Weyes Blood

In spite of being so late to the game
I won't fight fate
It's now too late Used to be the one that knew me
Saw through me
Used to be the one that knew And every morning when I rise
Those cold, blue eyes aren't here too
The worst came true
The binds that break off and shatter off
When you fall down from the top
And your heart stops
Used to be the one that knew me
Saw through me
Used to be the one that knew And if the dawn don't break me
If I don't become after
No time to go back and find who was chasing which disaster
I hold the truth like a tight noose
And sometimes you [?] It's getting hard to get along with your new love song so soon
Can it really be true? The binds that break off and shatter off when you fall down from the top
And your heart stops
Used to be the one that knew me
Saw through me
Used to be the one that knew me
You used to be the one that knew me You used to be the one
