

Guessing

Against the Current

I get lost in you
You're the sky I'm falling through
The clouds, to the ground
Won't you catch me now?
Two roads converge
And neither moves forwards
We're stuck at an impasse
Can this last now? When you stay up I'm crashing down
When you stay up I'm crashing down Now it feels like we're guessing
And I don't know
I could stay, or I could let you go
Don't wanna say that I've been wasting my time
But it feels like we're guessing
And I can't wait all my life So hard moving on
But this'll be the last one
How many times, can I say
That you broke me in every way
There's nothing left to prove
You rose up and I fell through
Lost in space and I can't
I can't face what's in my way When you stay up I'm crashing down
When you stay up I'm crashing down Now it feels like we're guessing
And I don't know
I could stay, or I could let you go
Don't wanna say that I've been wasting my time
But it feels like we're guessing
And I can't wait all my life Every thing that you've ever said
Is burned into the back of my head
I can't forget, I can't forget
Don't give up on me now, I think I've got you all figured out
You stay up, I'm crashing down I get lost in you
You're the sky I'm falling through
The clouds, to the ground
The clouds, to the ground Now it feels like we're guessing
And I don't know
I could stay, or I could let you go Now it feels like we're guessing
And I don't know (Still don't know)
I could stay, or I could let you go Don't wanna say that I've been wasting my time
But it feels like we're guessing

And I can't wait all my life
