

Goodbye

The Echoing Green

An empty photograph
A lonely picture of my heart...
Unexpressed.

And all this sentiment
That I've chose to keep at bay
Has left a debt that I can't payThe feelings on my mind
I save them for another time
Tomorrow - it never comes
And I still feel the sorrowNow all that's left are memories
Promises and guarantees of tomorrow

I never thought
That this would be the last time
That we'd say
Goodbye
Goodbye

GoodbyeThe little things that I remember
Seem to fade away like shifting sand
If only...
I could touch your hand
And try to turn back time
And all the things I'd say instead
But words unsaid are left for deadThe feelings on my mind
I save them for another time
Tomorrow - it never comes

And I still feel the sorrowNow all that's left are memories
Promises and guarantees of

Tomorrow - I never thought
That this would be the last time
That we'd say
Goodbye
Goodbye
Goodbye

Songwriters

CHARLES MINGUSPublished by

Lyrics © JAZZ WORKSHOP INC, SPIRIT MUSIC GROUP Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>