

Knock Knock Knock

Spoon

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

All lines are red, the film is done
After hours is on and now they'll make another one
If you miss the meaning this time
Well here comes another one And if you clap your hands, the man will fall
Hold your breath, he'll shake himself to death
And the seas get real raged
And words are said Every day, I hear "knock knock knock"
Oh and it's you
Oh every day, I hear "knock knock knock"
Then I see you and you're shaking
And you're breaking and you tell me I'm your only friend
And it starts all over again You said you were living in a buttoned-up world
Living in 1892
And I want nothing they could say to convince me
Or to blame nobody but you Some truth and you know it's gonna blow
But you don't give a damn, don't care who's gonna know
You just want everyone talk slow
And give you consent Every time I hear "knock knock knock"
I know that it's you
Oh every day, I hear "knock knock knock"
And I see you and you're shaking
Oh you're breaking so I put down the poison pen
And it starts all over again And it starts all over again
And it starts all over again And it all starts up to give
It's all over again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>