This Paradise

London After Midnight

I could take your breath away, I could make this feel so right out of the blackest shadows into your burning lightyour touch would enthrall my heart, my touch could release your soul lying warm and dark in your arms, come close to me now and take control riding through endless nights, bury the nameless dead the stars will rain down in the night cast out of Heaven by jealous angels of deathtogether we'll rule our world together we'll rule theirs too lightning and thunder collide at the edge of the world for me and youIn this Paradise you'll find just what your looking for, beauty right before you eyes, how could you ask for more?
Here behind these eyes, here inside my soul
hear the screams of a crucifixion ring through the dark, ring through the cold reach up and pull me down into your hallowed ground I'll lead you into temptation, buried in passion I'll lead you down...

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/