Dusk 'Til Dawn

Twiddle

I live life in the simple way really couldnt care much at all bout the things that the people say guess I never answered the callbut it seems to me, too many things in life go wrong but then our perceptions change and theirs no where to belongtime ticks by countin' down the days livin' my life dust till dawn years fly by and memories fade before you know it they're all gone but it seems to me,
too many things in life go wrong
leavin us no where to belongbut we hang on cause were still strong cause the world tears us in two then we collect ourselves, shape into something else before you know it were brand newas the hands of time reach deeper in my soul they reconfigure all the things that make me whole now that the seed has been planted we can finally make it through and it seems to me,
too many things in life go wrong
then our perceptions change before you know it now your home.
