

Breakin' Thru

Leftover Salmon

It's been a long journey
It's a long long time Holding on tight one long hard climb breaking down walls all along the way better make it in this world is what I hope they'll say

Now I can see the tide slowly turning while fires of yesterday are slowly burning
and it feels like we're finally breakin' through now all of these dream are coming true somehow when it seems like we're never gonna make through the night somewhere in the darkness I could see a guiding light from a place deep down inside a vision came to me burning the sunrise over the deep blue sea you only get one chance to make it happen in this life there's a whole lot more than just trying to survive

and it feels like
we're finally breakin' through now
all of these dream are coming true somehow

breakin' thru

as I watch these circles start to come around and the thunder in the distance makes a mournful sound careful what you wish for you will never be the same running through the wilderness while the moonlight calls your name well I finally back where I belong feeling right home where there can be no wrong

and it feels like
we're finally breakin' through now

all of these dream are really coming true somehow

breakin' thru
breakin' thru now
breakin' thru

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by DREW EMMITT

Lyrics Â© BUG MUSIC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>