Rescue Me

Sarah Bettens

When I tend to lose my mind
When I overlook all signs
When I just don't feel that right inside

Will you rescue me?
Will you soften every blow?
And will you know when it will hit me?
Will you rescue me?
It's all I need

When I hold my head up way too high
When I drive too fast in my sweet blue ride
When my shoe's untied
When I'm sad at night

Will you rescue me?
Will you soften every blow?
And will you know when it will hit me?
Will you rescue me?
It's all I need

It's because I know that you won't say no
That I'm asking and I'm asking
It's enough to know that you
Really like to see me next to you

When I run too fast and I can't say no
When you need me here and I move too slow
When our kids are getting much too old

Will you rescue me?
Will you soften every blow?
And will you know when it will hit me?
Will you rescue me?
It's all I need
