

Your Time Hasn't Come Yet, Baby

Elvis Presley

Your time hasn't come yet baby
You got a lot of dreams to go
Your time hasn't come yet baby
But when it does, your heart will know You're gonna be a beautiful woman
Because you're such a beautiful child
And when you start to bloom just like a rose in June
I bet the schoolboys all go wild but right now Your time hasn't come yet baby
You got a few dreams to go
Your time hasn't come yet baby
When it does, your heart will know Your life's still a lollipop heaven
Your teddy bear's at the foot of your bed
The little boy next door who only makes you sore
Is gonna some day turn your head but right now Your time hasn't come yet baby
You got a few dreams to go
Your time hasn't come yet baby
When it does, your heart will know You're gonna grow overnight into a lady
With a devastating smile
And then a lucky guy will see you
And wanna walk you down the aisle but meanwhile Your time hasn't come yet baby
You got a few dreams to go
Your time hasn't come yet baby
When it does, your heart will know
But when it does, your heart will know
But when it does, your heart will know

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>