Remember Me Lover

Porcupine Tree

I didn't want to feel like a slave to your mood swings, and i'm not saying anything I wouldn't say behind your back.
And all this shit could have happen to anyone, all that matters now is how you're going to pick it up, to throw it back.
It's so hard to get along, I always know what you're going to say. And this too, I hated you, I wish you learn to keep your mouth shut.
I never meant to start anything that I couldn't finish, now I've gotta be the one to turn away,it's time to react.
I meant every word that I said, yeah I really did. But you gotta understand that I was sleeping then, so relax.

I walked away, now remember me lover
I told you lies, now remember me lover
I took your money, remember me lover
I ruined you life, now remember me lover
It's so hard to get along, I always know what you're going to say. And this too, I hated you, I wish you learn to keep your mouth shut.
I've been through this with you about a hundred times. Agree to disagree, start again with our lives.
And every single morning I wake up and you're still there, but tomorrow you will be alone and that is all you deserve.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/