Teargas

Nephwrack

why have you put so many things into my eyes that I can't see clear who's paid you for telling me what I'm worth and run in fear it has been for me a strain to see already what have you done
the rising noise
the sharpened smells
the deadened sight
what is it in my eyes,
a piece of broken glass?
is this the time I should be on my knees for you?
is this your way of telling me, another has been found?
now I know it's teargas in my eyes
