

Hopelessly Human

Kansas

It's a strange aberration, this brainstorm of youth

Though it's lost in translation from fancy to truth

It's hopelessly human, both inside and out

A joyous occasion, there's no reason to doubt

It's easy somehow, what once was elusive is calling me now
I am waiting, I am patiently doing nothing, in a reverie

Climbing higher, seeing everything interacting, slowly spiraling

I am giving, while I'm watching the life I'm living, precious energy

Escalating, what was once just a game, it's never the same

No one's to blame
It's a strange situation, there's no cause for alarm

All these hot licks and rhetoric, surely do you no harm

They're hopelessly human, both inside and out

A joyous occasion, there's no reason to doubt

When each word is read, would you know the difference

If nothing was said?
All is rhythm, all is unity
I am laughing, as it's meant to be

Just amusing, I am using the word was given, making harmony

Moving slowly, dancing aimlessly endless circle, turning fearlessly

Resurrected, falling down again introspective, I'm just stating my view

So now you can choose, what do you feel, is it for real this time?
