

The Wall

Naytronix

Never ever wanted to go
Now I know I needed to grow
Never ever wanted to go
Now I know I needed to grow I've been thinking about the truth for a while now
I've been feeling so confused for a while now
Won't you try to make me choose for right now
See the things you moved me through for a while now You can't read my mind
I don't seem to know
Who could justify
Who knew, we don't know
Things you think would last forever
Then you wake up and they're gone
Change it comes like raindrops on your window
I've been thinking about truth for a while now
I've been feeling so confused for a while now
Won't you try to make me choose for right now
See the things you moved me through for a while now You can't read my mind
I don't see it all
I thought 'move ahead'
Did not see the wall
Things you think would last forever
Then you wake up and they're gone
Change it comes like raindrops on my window Never ever wanted to go
Now I know I needed to grow
Never ever wanted to go
Now I know I needed to grow
I've been thinking about the mood for a while now
Never ever wanted to go
I've been feeling so confused for a while now
Now I know I needed to grow
Won't you try to make me choose for right now
See the things you put me through for a while now
What do you do?
