Red Alert

Saxon

We were on the Russian border When the news began to break Of a nuclear reactor melting down Sending deadly clouds of dustInto the atmosphere Falling down like rain upon the groundWe were laying in the sun Listening to the radio When someone said you'd better get inside We didn't know how serious The situation was That many people to the north had diedRed alert, red alert Screaming in my head There's something I'm not sure of going downRed alert, red alert Screaming in the night That fallout seems to follow me aroundWe made out way to Hungary Got ready for the show Thinking we were safe there From the stormBut the deadly cloud was high above Taken by the wind Spreading like a plague across the land A threat you couldn't seeNothing you could feel Something evil floating in the air Look towards the east For the danger yet to comeFor the Earth We make a silent prayerRed alert, red alert Screaming in my head There's something I'm not sure of going downRed alert, red alert Screaming in the night That fallout seems to follow me aroundWe were on the Russian border When the news began to break Of a nuclear reactor melting down Sending deadly clouds of dustInto the atmosphere Falling down like rain upon the groundRed alert, red alert Screaming in my head There's something I'm not sure of going downRed alert, red alert Screaming in the night
