

Misconceptions

Ace Troubleshooter

Day after day after day you live in your misconceptions

'Cause our actions don't speak as loud as our words

It hurts, my friend, can I help you understand?

Can I please help you understand what I see? It's not bred out of fear, it's sprung out of love

It's what we've been in search of Now spring clear of all the lies and sever all the ties

With tangled webs of futile thinking

Now spring clear of all half-truths

'Cause the burden of proof doesn't rest on an institution Yeah, I can see all the hurt and the misery resulting from the fact

That Christians are the biggest sinners of them all

But please don't fall

Don't let all those who come in Christ's name fool you

Don't you dare, don't you dare
