In the End

Scott Matthew

we all bear the scars yeah, we all feign a laugh we all cry in the dark get cut off before we startand as your first act begins you realise they're all waiting for a fall, for a flaw, for the endand there's a past stained with tears could you talk to quiet my fears could you pull me aside just to acknowledge that i've triedas your last breath begins contently take it in cause we all get it in the end

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/