

Danska

MU330

You and me don't care anymore, you stick it right in your... you forgot what soap is for you... Your hair it smells like cottage cheese it makes me wobbly at the knees. You used to care when we went out you used to comb your hair and wear make-up and I'd bring my nice shoes. But now you don't you just refuse. And you say that your smile should be enough reminder that you really care for me but your teeth are black and rotten and they make me wanna hurl. You and me don't care anymore, you stick it right in your... you forgot what soap is for you... Your hair it smells like cottage cheese it makes me wobbly at the knees. We haven't done this in so long I'll probably down inside the fat rolls in your thighs and your stomach... you never shaved, you braid you pits. And you say that your smile should be enough reminder that you really care for me but your teeth are black and rotten and they make me wanna hurl. You and me don't care anymore, you stick it right in your... you forgot what soap is for you... Your hair it smells like cottage cheese it makes me wobbly at the knees.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>