Second Heartbeat

A7X @ LBC

We keep writing, talking and planning
But everything's changing
We all know what to do but no one does it
Now, this time has passed and full of regretTwo in my heart have left me a while
I stand alone, when they get back
It won't be the same, it won't be the sameMy life, you've always been there
Now, you're gone and my heads spinning
Left the childhood, left the memories
Left the good times in the past
Moving on your time has run outWishing the clock would stand still
The world can wait
Wasting away once again
Once lived as friendsAs time passes by
Regrets for the rest of my life
The ones who I confide
Were gone in the black of the nightYeah, never will I forget you
With all the memories past
So rarely I get to see your faceGrowing I looked to you in guidance
We knew that time could kill us
But you're still so close to meTo me you were my life
To me you were my soul companion
Now you are so far away
Nothing can take away the times and the memories we've hadCome back, to the days when we were young
Come back, to the days when nothing mattered
To the days when nothing [Incomprehensible]I feel time passes by
Regrets for the rest of my life
The ones who I confide
Were gone in the black of the nightAs time passes by
Regrets for the rest of my life
The ones who I confide
Were gone in the black of the night
