Evil Warning

Angra

Time to believe in the dream that you've seen
In a world that is broken and mean
One day the sun it will shine for us all
Take the freedom that you have fore-seen...Miles away You're heading for the unknown and there's no way to get back
Time to complain
Nobody is feeling the truthTo live in the crowd sick of your own vanity Dead scattered petals around Hymms of betrayal calling you for the attackEvil warning
You're much too fast and much too high,
No time to worry!
It's over, no more remaining time
to cry and feel the pain...
In the morning
You stagger up to start the fight,
You get so lonely...
With no fore-sight until another day!Run, don't wait for the sun cause it's setting on you hopes
Don't look far behind for the shadows
They still stands... until the end!Don't let your pride make your blood flow cold in vain...
Until the end!Time to believe in the dream that you've seen
In a world that is broken and mean
One day the sun it will shine for us all
Take the freedom that you have fore-seen...Time to believe in the dream that you've seen
In a world that is broken and mean
One day the sun it will shine for us all
Take the freedom that you have fore-seen...Evil warning
You're much too fast and much too high,
No time to worry!
It's over, no more remaining time
to cry and feel the pain...
Run, don't wait for the sun
cause it's setting on you hopes
Don't look far behind for the shadows
They still stands... until the end!And don't let your pride make your blood flow could in vain...

Until the end!SOLO:Kiko