Lost You In the Canyon

Marc Cohn

Got your call from California
But I could hardly hear your voice
Through the hissing of the highway
And all that other noiseYou said I might lose you in the canyon
Then you went riding up the coast
Now all these things we leave unspoken
Seem to haunt me like a ghostLost you in the canyon
Guess you tried to let me know
Lost you in the canyon
Long, long time ago
Lost you in the canyon
Brother, you fade out slowThere were times I thought I knew you
Before these changes came to pass
But you don't think about it, do you?
From up there in your house of glassThe Earth is shifting underneath you
The land is sliding all around
Do you ever stop to wonder
About that paradise you've found?I've lost you in the canyon
I guess you tried to let me know
Lost you in the canyon
A long, long time ago
Lost you in the canyon
Brother, you fade out slowI hear you moving through the mountains
Through the fires and the floods
But I can't fix this bad connection
In the wires or the bloodLost you in the canyon
I guess you tried to let me know
Lost you in the canyon
A long, long time ago
Lost you in the canyon
Brother, you fade out, brother, you fade out slow
