Daydreaming

Dusty Springfield

You gotta wake up
You don't commit to me, you won't make a start
You don't tell me, no, you haven't got the heart
You sit in a chair or you lie in bed
With a faraway stare and a swollen head
Well, listen here, my lover, I have had enough
And I can tell you, brother, I could fall in love
With someone who looks a lot like you
But gets up and does what he's thinking of
I can't wait another day
I can give and I can take
There's a choice you have to make
So many times things pass you by
Imagination running wild
You've got to start choosing right from wrong
Instead of daydreaming all day long
I want to catch a plane to an open space
I want to feel the sun shining on my face
But time is short and waiting is long
And my patience is exhausted
I'm just not that strong
I want to see the parade, you wanna watch TV
So we don't do either, it's insanity
You say there's plenty of time and life is good
So you never make your mind up
Well, you never could
I can ask you when or why
And you'll look up to the sky
The parade is marching by
So many times things pass you by
Imagination running wild
You've got to start choosing right from wrong
Instead of daydreaming all day long
Daydreaming, oh, oh, daydreaming, daydreaming
You gotta wake up, you gotta wake up
(Leave me alone, I'm only dreaming)
You gotta wake up, you gotta wake up
(Leave me alone, I'm only dreaming)
You gotta wake up, you gotta wake up

(I'm only dreaming)
Oh, oh
I can't wait another day
I can give and I can take
There's a choice you have to make, oh, oh
So many times things pass you by
Imagination running wild
You've got to start choosing right from wrong
Instead of daydreaming all day long
So many times things pass you by
Imagination running wild
You've gotta choose right from wrong
Instead of daydreaming all night long
(Daydreaming)
So many times
(Daydreaming)
Things pass you by
(Daydreaming)
You've gotta choose right from wrong
(Daydreaming)
All day long, all day long
