An Ocean Between Us

As I Lay Dying

GoHow many years have we waited
For a ship that never set sail?
How many days have we wasted
Chasing a love that was not our own?I sat ashore and watched as one
Hopeless wave crashed upon another
While my thoughts ran to the hills
My heart never, never reached the seaWith only delusions
Of an endless, endless journey
I am left with an ocean
Between you and meAn ocean betweenIs this your salvation?
Is this all you can give?
I will not stand in reflection
Of someone else's dream, yeahThe gate to my heart
Has been well shut
With the splendor of
My aspirations closed inHow many years have we waited
For a ship that never set sail?
How many days have we wasted
Chasing a love that was not our own?Is this your salvation?Is this your salvation?
Is this all you can give?
I will not stand in reflection
Of someone else's dreamIs this your salvation?
Is this all you can give?
I will not stand in reflection
Of someone else's dreamHow many years?How many years have we waited
For a ship that never, never set sail?
And how many days have we wasted
For a ship that never, never set sail?Is this your salvation?
Is this all you can give?
I will not stand in reflection
Of someone else's dreamIs this your salvation?
Is this all you can give?
I will not stand in reflection
Of someone else's dream
