

Where Hope and Daylight Die

Summoning

Still here I wake and I think of you
I see you far away
Answer my call
Can you hear my voice
I hear youFor we are gone and forever lost
Broken here I lie
Beneath the shadow sink
Where daylight dies
I wake for youBut still I stand and think of Days when grass was green
And my heart was so young
They 've never been Past
Forever lostIn better lands the sun may shine
And green leaves on trees spring
Their opening and blossoming
But here the raven sing
