Him

Lunic

There she goes
with her stomach tied in knots
Again
She's got her suitcase in her hand
She says
She's tired
of waking up alone
in your arms
in your eyes
she's coldYou wave
She says
I can't stay here anymore
You'll never let me in You'll never let me know youlike himAnd you wonder Does he love her?
You wonder does he love her like you love her?As she leaves
You feel your knees are getting weak
She turns
You look straight into her eyes
The truth
It hurts
cause you're drenched in contradiction
You won't let her wring you out
You won't let her winShe says If this is as close as you'll ever get Then you should let me leave
You should let me run to himto himAnd you wonder Does he love her?
You wonder does he love her like you love her?You'll never know...
But you don't think so.
