Lost In Existence

Scarlett O'Hara

These lines they follow like the boys that surround you
Hanging on to heartbreaks in hotel rooms.
Good things come to those who wait so what are we waiting for?
'Cause I'll bring you to your knees.

This is what you're waiting for!
I can make this decision on my own!
If you please break to your knees
Where you belong!

We're just waiting for
Waiting for the right move.

Burn out! Burn out all the lights!
We can give it up for a night!
Burn out! Burn out all the lights!
Patience for the sun to rise!

These lines they follow like the boys that surround you
Hanging on to heartbreaks in hotel rooms.
Good things come to those who wait so what are we waiting for?
'Cause I'll bring you to your knees
Where you belong, where you've been asking me to put you from the start.
Where you've been asking me, to put you from the start

When the windows start to shatter (to put you from the start)
I'll keep fighting on 'til the pain fills the air.
Pray for, pray for me!
I must, must be dreaming!
There's no room left for you, we'll keep carrying on.
Pray for, pray for me!
We've lost ourselves so far in existence.

We can bleed the statue, bleed hate
We can drain the pain away.
I've been staring out the broken glass waiting for you to come back home.
I'll stay fighting on in this hand an empty note.
When the windows start to fade, I'll stay fighting on.

I'll stay carrying on for a second chance.

Another start.
I'll stay carrying on to breathe in deep.
Breathe in new life.

Lyrics submitted by Tony.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/