

Come Clean

The Partisans

I'd better leave now
It's gone too far I've hurt too deep
And I'm sure the wound will scar
    And in the morning
        All is not clear
I try to see through hazy eyes
    All the thoughts I fear
        What did I do?
        What did I say?
I should have left you far awayThe reason reason cannot be found
    It hurts to think about times when I've been down
        When I can think again
            And I can see
        The foolishness I hide in vain
            Has not come clean
        The seams have torn once more
I can't hold back I make a good excuseTo grip the feelings that I lack
    If you could see yourself right nowWhat would you say?
        And you want to preach a sermonEvery day,
You drink another drink see how you lieIt gives you courage and make you cry
    The world I see reflects on me
        Through my eyes my demise

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>