

Boy From The North

Monica Heldal

Oh you came out from the woods where I was waiting
Said you were making time
And when I looked around you were gone back there
Oh boy from the North, beware
Cause your night will fall again And there's light streaks making their way through the trees
But you can't see them clear
You'll survive anything but this has no end
Oh boy from the North, your hollow soul
It will never feel purposeful And I know you came with a travelling show
And you started out too young
You could follow me back where we used to meet
Now hear me call from the heart
Oh where the dragon sleeps
And I know you came with a travelling show
And you started out too young
You could follow me back where we used to meet
Now hear me call from the heart
Oh where the dragon sleeps And you told me your thoughts of your errors and misbehavior
Say it hurts but feels good now on your skin
And how you fight so to win, and I say
Oh why don't you try guarding in And I know you came with a travelling show
And you started out too young
You could follow me back where we used to meet
Now hear me call from the heart
Oh where the dragon sleeps

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>