

Prayers for a King

Sorcerer

A desolate wind whispering his name
I search the battlefield from the castle wall
Broken arrows, swords and bloodstained shields
Faces of soldiers distorted in painThrough the mist
I see the black steed of the king
If God exist
Please, give me strength to honour the ringOpen the gate
The king is dying
Now, before it is too late
Oh, hear my prayers
My father's dying
My heart and soul are in despairRemember his name, now hail the new crowned king
I claim my legacy as I take revenge
Fear my vengeance, no pardon, no remorse
Burning with fury, hell will rise againThrough the mist
I ride the black steed of the king
If God exist
Please, give me strength to honour the ring
Open the gate
Revenge is calling
No salvation from my hateOh, hear my prayers
Angels are calling
My burning heart is in despair
