I Choose Love

The Coronas

I left you just 2 months ago in search of something that I didn't know and now, I still don't know but I
Felt I had to let go, I had to find out for myself so I could shelve all my doubts and work it out and you
Understood so well, you left me to myself, now I'm sure that time will tell but time can help
So please don't forget, you know I regret how unsure I was then, please say there's something left.Mistakes have been made
Two lives have been changed
I know you've cried
Please say it's not too late
And I know why I'm unwell
I want you for myself
I've seen both sides
And I choose love over anything else...
There's nothing I can say that you haven't heard before. I'm making promises I made a year ago but it's Something that cant wait, you're drifting further away and I'm clinging on for life, please don't let go and you
You know me so well, better than myself, and you know that it takes time but time can help
And you know how much I miss, the coolest girl there is and you know, you can trust, please say that that's enoughMistakes have been made
Two lives have been changed
I know you've cried
Please say it's not too late
And I know why I'm unwell
I want you for myself
I've seen both sides
And I choose love over anything else...
Mistakes have been made
Two lives have been changed
I know you've cried
Please say it's not too late
And I know why I'm unwell
I want you for myself
I've seen both sides
And I choose love over anything else...
