The River Is Wide

The Grass Roots

The sky was clear on that windy day. Til the clear blue sky began to turn to grey.. The lightening flashed,the thunder roared above. Then fell a drop of rain to start our love. Let the river get wide ,the river gets long now. The water runs deep as our love gets strong now. So Baby dont you fight and say you belong now to me. Upon the roof we heard the gentel rain. With the rhythm of our heartbeats down it came. As it hit each rock our hearts could feel the pain No one on earth could stop a drop of rain. And let the river get wide .The river gets long now. The water runs deep, as our love gets strong now. So Baby dont you fight and say you belong now to me.
