

Livin' Part Of Life

Eric Church

One, two
One, two, threeI woke up early this mornin
An Im already runnin late
Theres a list of things on as my arm
I wanna get done todayIs it Tuesday? Is it Wednesday?
Theyre runnin into each other
Somebody tell me, when is my day
Man, this life is sure bein a motherSo tomorrow I'm takin me fishin
Hang a sign on the door of my life
Tell the world that Ive gone missin
An I wont be back for a whileIm so tired of only wishin
I could leave my troubles behind
I wanna be front porch rockin
With a big sun droppin in a blue skyKick back an get high
On the livin part of lifeYeah, come onThey say to keep your spot on the ladder
An keep that money rollin in
They say, keepin up with the feelies, boy
You cant back off one inchBut I been puttin in my time
An Ive built up a pretty good deal
Im gonna spend some, maybe waste some
Before my time comes an I wind up deadYeah, tomorrow I'm takin me fishin
Hang a sign on the door of my life
Tell the world that Ive gone missin
An I wont be back for a whileIm so tired of only wishin
I could leave my troubles behind
I wanna be front porch rockin
With a big sun droppin in a blue skyKick back an get high
On the livin part of lifeYeahWhen I get home tonight
Ill open the window an let whatever roll in
An if theres no breeze thats cool with me
Ill just raise myself an wait on the wind, yeahYeah, tomorrow I'm takin me fishin
Hang a sign on the door of my life
Tell the world that Ive gone missin
An I wont be back for a whileIm so tired of only wishin
I could leave my troubles behind
I wanna be front porch rockin
With a big sun droppin in a blue skyKick back an get high
Kick back an' get high
On the livin, the livin' part of lifeYeah, bop, bop

Bop, bop, bop, bop
Yeah, that one was right
Thats cool

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>