

Gasoline

Enter The Haggis

Outside around the side
Form a circle forwar I'm an
    Outsider on the side
Formerly a farm-boy
Inside I'm on the side
I'm divided undecided
    Back then around again
Second time's a charm boyupside mortified
    Rubber-necking bottle-necking
    Smoke-stacks cigarettes
    Polish on the details
    I try to stay inside
Eyes and ears and curtains closing
    They lie on their sides
Casualties of retailback then the earth was green
    Dirt was black and the air/water was clean
    And then upon the scene
    Cars and trucks and gasonline
    Inside I'm petrified
I don't want to hide/watch it anymoreblack or white/left or right or in between
    I'm never really sure which way I lean
    Hey mister what does it mean he said
    Cars and trucks need gasoline.
