

All Of Me

Meat Loaf

I caught a glimpse of myself today
Wasn't a pretty picture, I must say
Well, I threw a dagger of poison words
Straight for my heart, was it deserved?
Well, it's too late to make up some excuse
And say it wasn't me, well, what's the use?
    Oh, you've seen too much
    Ooh, let me introduce you to
        This is my anger, this is my shame
These are my insecurities that I can't explain
This is my fortress, crumbling 'round my feet
    Take a good look, baby, this is all of me
    They found that nerve deep in my soul
        Poised and ready to explode
        And no one else on earth but you
        Could get close enough to light that fuse
        And you crawled up underneath my skin
Crept now through my veins and through my head
    Ooh, you got so deep
    You might as well get to know the rest of me

        This is my anger, this is my shame
These are my insecurities that I can't explain
This is my fortress, crumbling 'round my feet
    Take a good look, baby, this is all of me
    We all live under the same roof
        We go by the same name
        It saddens me to think that I cannot Turn back the hands of time
        This is my anger, this is my shame
These are my insecurities that I can't explain
This is my fortress, crumbling 'round my feet
    Take a good look, baby
    This is my anger, these are my doubts
        These are my emotions all strung out
        This is my fortress crumbling 'round my feet
    Take a good look, baby, this is all, this is all of me
        This is all of me,
        oh, this is all of me

This is all of me

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>