The Victim

Dead Poetic

To me, you were just dead weight A diluted filter blurring the color away From what this used to be Or, or what it could have beenBut nothing's changed I still see you as a toxin I still see you as the same I'll let you stand on your own again While you're playing the victimTo me, you were just the same Like all of the others Accusing the leader of inflicting all the pain That you've been feeling, feeling But I'd wait to find any tears of mine I tried to let you come undoneBut nothing's changed I still see you as a toxin I still see you as the sameI'll let you stand on your own again While you're playing the victim

I'll let you stand on your own, your ownFind a new way in, and take them all way

If I'm the villain, well, then take me all away

If I had the blade

I'd cut the strings down from your limbs

And let you get awayI'll let you stand on your own again

While you're playing the victim

I'll let you stand on your own, your own
