

Take It to Heart

Good Riddance

We take it to heart with benevolence in our minds But the will is weak and intentions are lost in time We rationalize and trace our thoughts to times before When we echoed advertising and the quest to consume even more Call it ignorance or greed or just a breach in our compassion
That keeps us drowning in decay
We've got to reconnect ourselves and make it something more than fashion
Before we burn it all away
We learn to ignore diverting eyes from proof Deciding comfort is more consequential than the truth As our humanity wanes and the blood runs thick upon our hands We embrace the weakest path deciding not to make our stand Call it ignorance or greed
or just a breach in our compassion
That keeps us drowning in decay
We've got to reconnect ourselves
and make it something more than fashion
Before we burn it all away
Catatonic invertebrate convenience holds our fate Will not endeavor to defy If might makes right the way it's read a purpose for which none were bred What will our madness justify?
Decrepit slaughterhouses drowning in the filth Of mutilation incarceration Disease and pestilence devoured all the same
Call it ignorance or greed
or just a breach in our compassion
That keeps us drowning in decay
We've got to reconnect ourselves
and make it something more than fashion
