

Bottle Marked Caution

Tokyo Rose

It's getting pretty dark here in my own tower
It's reaching dusk and approaching the cover of night
I undergo my transformation in the shadows
At quarter-past I'm poised to terrorize the sky
I'll breathe fire at your feet to show you

What you've done to me

I'll hurl us both into the earth

Because misery loves company

I pour myself another glass from the bottle marked: Caution

I throw it back to quench this thirst for your love

But instead of putting out this fire in my belly

It reacts like kerosene and I'm beside myself again

I know I swore I'd never hurt you

You said the same to me

But oh, just take a look at us now

I seek comfort in the bottom of an empty bottle

And consolation in the power of my words

To sear your flesh

To boil your blood

To scorch your bones

To turn you into ash and dust
