

The Knot

Most Precious Blood

And I, I search for something more Before it mattered who you knew And I, I search for something pure Before the knot became the noose There's no disguise behind these eyes I'm still alive watching you die And as I slowly walk away I hear you say - I never change. And I, I always hoped for more Before this knot came loose And now I seek out something pure Before the knot became the noose In the rearview mirror before the knot became noose Horizon of burning bridges before the knot became noose The knot became the noose

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>