Along the Way

Alex Kassel

(I'm thirsty - And weary from the heat
As the Sands rinse the hands of time
I will suck the venom from your wound
If you will do the same and suck from mine,) (You and I - Were ruined by
This desert between us
I walked through the valley and stared into death)
(This instance of a distance
Designed to defeat us
And still her face I can't seem to forget)
The war you wage
Forever the life that you pay
Something wrong in you
Comes alive in your veins
Lose yourself in some kind of Hell
A new version of where you are now
Truth's unveiled
You'll never ever get out
(At a glance - Sudden avalanche
Suffocated me within Gasping for air I can't breathe)
(Paralyzed - I've been sterilized

And cleansed of my sin
In a state of suspended belief)
Somewhere along the way
Time changes everything
We all disintegrate
It's running out,
(Taunted by time
Imposing it's certainty
Absolute always
Stopping for nothing
This race cannot be won)
(So days it crawls
While other days it flies
It feeds on our flaws
And knows no compromise

Inevitable rise of the sun
Time what have I become)
Somewhere along the way
Time changes everything
We all disintegrate
It's running out,
The war you wage
Somewhere along the way
It's running out.
