

Empty Streets

Vio

Empty evenings,
scarlet sky for you.
Shared with no one,
mist between our view. Our nights are unrefined.
Our days, divine.
We are well charming.
We are young like spring. We're the children of the morning.
Our sunshine is dawning. You were forgotten at sea.
Then your melody
opened up to me. All my love, all my love, all my love is yet to find it's place. Empty evenings, rainy nights for you.
Shared in solitude,
streets between me and you. Our nights are unrefined.
Our days, divine.
We are well charming.
We are young like spring. We're the children of the morning.
Our sunshine is dawning. You were forgotten at sea.
Then your melody
opened up to me. All my love, all my love,
all my love is yet to find it's place.
