

Walking In the Light

Anointed

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

    Hmm
    Alright, alright
    Oh yeah yeah, baby When the clouds cover up your heart
    And the darkness appears before the rain starts
    Though the hours turn to many days
The hope that soon it will pass is what you embrace For the clouds will rain in a season
    Healing drops to wash the hurt away
    And the sun will give in it's perfect time
Revelations of a brand new day Take heart this time
    Know everything will be alright
    Rest assured that soon as the morning comes
    We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light, eh
We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light Now it seems having been here before
    One would know by now when to yield the floor
    To the one who created time and space
Knowing sometimes the message is simply to wait for our faith Is not what could happen
    Or the evidence of what we can't see
    But our hope is what you can still hold to Never letting go of what you believe, oh Take heart this time
    Know that everything will be alright
    Rest assured that soon as the morning comes
    We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light, eh
We'll go walkin', walkin' in the light Should you ever need someone
    Just call me, oh yeah
    It's not a question if I'm here for you
I'm right by your side through the test of time Know everything will be alright
    Walkin' in the light, eh
    We'll go walkin' in the light
    Walkin' in the light
Walkin' in the light We'll go walkin' in the light
    We'll go walkin' in the light
    We'll go walkin' in the light

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>