

Faith

Dogwood

I have faith no one believes
I love a God, no one can see
You put your trust into thin air
That's what they all told me
But I believed because of fear
And I can see you crystal clear
I know that you will meet me here I walk the narrow path
Perplexed and befuddled
I'm persecuted, plagued and I'm troubled My past, my history
My future's a mystery
There's only one certain thing and that's for sure That's my God who is so real
He makes my life easier to deal
With the aid of His goodness
I experience true bliss
Do you understand your life is in His hands? Confusion is my hat
Centrifuge of hurt is where I'm at
I request some help with that My past, my history
My future's a mystery
There's only one certain thing and that's for sure It's my God who is so real
He makes my life easier to deal
With the aid of His goodness
I experience true bliss
Do you understand your life is in His hands? I have faith no one believes
I love a God, no one can see
You put your trust into thin air
That's what they all told me
