

Killing Fields (Killed Mix)

Funker Vogt

every little step you take every little move you make they're watching you they're watching you without respect for your life Everywhere are microphones they listen all day and night to every tiny word you speak in your very little world so you better speak a word keep the silence in your heart no more shoutings anywere until they leave you every little step you take
every little move you make
they're watching you they're watching you without respect for your life

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>