

Little Flame

Human Fortress

No,no
....a little flame can't dive into the seaDon't believe all hope is receding
Don't believe you just can walk away
Ups and downs make you feel giddy
What's the price you have to payYour life is like a night without the moonlight
A little flame can't dive into the sea
The endless lies to clear up all your sorrows
These wasted days to find a way
A little flame can't dive into the seaYou're just a boasting fool
All you know are your own laws and rules
You never finished school
And guess now " I'm a smart boy" and selling shoesYour mind is full of hate
And get into a rage you create...you create
You like your muscle play
To flee from your dejection day by dayLost in the depths of my fantastic world
Vague fragments of days will turn
Into grotesque black visions
A god before a god
"summon all the demons to rise from the graves"Still believe time goes by
Still believe it's hard - it's hard to survive
Let it be and see what's real
All the time - there's something you just can concealSee what's real
It's hard to survive.....it's hard to surviveWake up and don't defy
You're a slave of your depression and lies
What else can turn your brain
There's no vain of truth in what you try to sayYour life is like a night without the moonlight
A little flame can't dive into the sea
These endless lies to clear up all your sorrows
These wasted days to find a way
A little flame can't dive into the seaStill believe time goes by
Still believe it's hard - it's hard to survive
Let it be and see what's real
All the time - there's something you just can conceal
